

The Lebanese Canadian Business Association (LCBA) has officially elected a new board of directors following its General Assembly meeting held in Ashrafieh on Thursday, October 1, 2026.

During the meeting that started at 5:00 PM, voting members present cast their ballots. Habib Husni was elected as the new President of the association, alongside Claude Boulos, who will serve as Vice-President and Government Representative. Joining the team are Nina Elhajj Srouf as Secretary General and Said Daouk as Treasurer.

The newly formed board also includes a prominent lineup of members: Abd El Salam El Solh, Maroun Chammass, Raphael Debbane, Rony Karam, Raouf Malak, Maya Bassil, Maya Doumit, Georges Nasraoui, Othman Alameddine, Philippe Kamel, and Noel Ayoub.

Following the election, President Husni outlined his strategic vision for the upcoming mandate. His agenda focuses on expanding the association's membership base, hosting a new series of business seminars, and strengthening bilateral trade and cultural ties. Husni emphasized that the LCBA aims to act as a catalyst for innovative trade and industry opportunities between the two countries.

Established on November 18, 1999, the LCBA has spent over two decades fostering economic, social, and cultural networks between Lebanese citizens residing in Lebanon and the Lebanese diaspora in Canada.
